

AUSTRALIAN LETTUCE

Southnet Trade Australia is located in the Riverina region of NSW – the heart of Australia’s largest vegetable growing region. We export iceberg lettuce from the Werribee district of Victoria where lettuce is grown year round, from Queensland and also from the Hay region of NSW - famous for the quality of lettuce grown in the Australian winter season.

Heads are cut tight to remove loose outer leaves. These are packed bare or tissue wrapped into export cartons that can be delivered either stacked on export pallets or loose stacked in container. Bagged heads in timber bins or other configurations can also be accommodated.

Airfreight is preferred freight option to most ports except to short transit sea freight destinations during the winter months.
